In October, domestic tourism increased, the number of foreign guests did not rose compared to last year

In October, the number of visitors to tourism accommodation establishments increased slightly year-on-year, but almost a fifth of the guests were missing from the accommodation establishments to reach the values of 2019. The number of foreign visitors, which was almost a quarter lower, lagged behind the numbers of the pre-Covid period.

473 000 guests visited tourist accommodation establishments in Slovakia in October of this year. It was the most favourable October in the last three years, the number of visitors exceeded last year's figures by 5%. However, compared to the tourist-successful year 2019, the hotels and guesthouses in Slovakia lacked more than 100 000 guests. The dynamics of the recovery of tourism from the previous months was thus dampened in October, and the October's visit rate lagged behind the pre-Covid values by up to 17.5%.
